

ABOUT THE OPPORTUNITY

A Horticulture Volunteer supports the conservation and care of our native plants and habitats in designated locations such as at the Ackerman Native Plant Nursery or the Wrigley Memorial and Botanic Garden. This opportunity is perfect for someone who loves to spend time in nature and wants to become more familiar with the Island's unique flora while serving in a consistent location.

IS THIS FOR ME?

The top priority of a Horticulture Volunteer is to assist Conservancy staff with caring for plant life and habitats. It is a good match for someone who enjoys being around nature but may not be interested in rigorous field work or hiking. While there will be some flexibility in matching volunteer tasks with special areas of interest, we ask that our Horticulture Volunteers...

- Enjoy learning about plant life and spending time in nature
- Enjoy working as a part of a team
- Be thoughtful, reliable and able to follow directions
- Have a willingness to help with a variety of tasks.

Examples of daily tasks may include:

- Planting
- Watering
- Weeding
- Raking
- Cleaning and collecting seeds
- Other season-specific activities

WORKING CONDITIONS

- This opportunity is primarily outdoors, with some access to shade
- Some duties require standing and walking, seated duties are available
- This opportunity can involve lifting up to 50 pounds, duties without carrying items are available
- This opportunity has a low to vigorous-intensity activity level

All volunteer opportunities support the Catalina Island Conservancy's mission to be a responsible steward of our lands through a balance of conservation, education, and recreation. If interested, please contact Volunteers@catalinaconservancy.org for an application.

This is a volunteer opportunity and is not to be construed as employment
